LIVES ARE LOST IN TORRENTIAL FLOOD OF WATERS

Town Swept Away, Houses Afloat and Railroad Traffic Suspended In Oregon and Washington

FARMER REFUGEES ON ISLAND ARE IN PERIL

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 15.—A special to the Oregonian Kelso, Washington, states that eight families of fishermen who were living in houseboats at the junction of the Cowlitz and Columbia and who were reported to have been marooned in perilous danger of being swept away, were rescued this evening by the steamer Georgia Burton, which had been sent from Portland for the purpose. At 9 o'clock, the towns of Castle Rock Ostrander and Lexington are submerged by water and every bridge in that part of the country has been swept out. At Kelso, the water is over twenty feet above low water mark and rising at the rate of half an inch an hour.

The greatest danger to life was at Lexington, which is at the junction of Cowlitz and Columbia rivers. The town was submerged during the afternoon and about one hundred inhabitants in considerable danger. They were rescued by people from surrounding settlements. Lexington tonight is under seven feet of water.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 15.—Several lives reported lost, the town of Cattin swept away by the same river, railroad traffic between Puget Sound and Portland at a standstill, the railroads of western and northwestern Washington in the same condition, the Union Pacific and Oregon Railway and Navigation track temporarily blockaded by a mud slide at Dodson, the telegraph and telephone between here and Seattle out of commission and wire traffic to eastern Oregon and Washington almost at a standstill, hundreds of dollars damage in the rural districts back of the Sound country, in the Yakima country and in southeastern Washington and as much more to the logging interests of southwestern Washington, briefly summarize up tonight, the known destruction wrought by the streams and creeks of Washington which are thundering torrents as the result of the torrential downpour of the past three or four days.

The nurse was carried to Jack Vera's place and Dr. Walker called to attend her. The physician stated after the accident that the woman will recover. Smith will not be permanently inconvenienced by the affair.

ROOSEVELT QUESTIONS WORKMEN ON CANAL

COLON, Nov. 15.—President Roosevelt has spent a day on the isthmus of Panama and is now settled for the night at the Tivoli Hotel upon the line of the canal. He has crossed from Colon to Panama, seeing much of the canal and the famous Culebra cut on the way; he has taken a trip around Panama Bay and he has been welcomed in Panama City, which lies outside of the canal zone, by President Amador and other officials of the Panama republic.

The day passed according to schedule and no untoward or unexpected incidents have occurred.

Though it rained from 10 a. m., the weather did not interfere with the cruise. The President seemed determined to obtain all the information he possibly could. He asked questions of all the canal employes. During his trip from Colon, he met a number of work trains full of earth and rock from the Culebra cut and saw several steam shovels working.

From La Boca, President Roosevelt came this afternoon to Panama City. From the railroad station, he was driven up Central Avenue to the Cathedral Plaza. The streets were filled with people, who constantly cheered the President.

The welcome given President Roosevelt upon landing in Panama territory, proved conclusively that the people of this republic are his firm and sincere admirers. He has conquered them and he holds a high place in their esteem.

MEN ARE ROBBED AT DOOR OF HOMES BY THUGS

MASKED THUGS BOLDLY SEARCH THE PEDESTRIANS

Two holdups in quick succession occurred in the heart of Reno shortly after six o'clock last night, and the victims were robbed of their money on the entrance to their homes. Harry Palmer, a draughtsman employed in the office of the surveyor general, was robbed of about $3; William Carey, who lives at 621 South Virginia street, gave two highwaymen a five dollar greenback. The cases were reported to the police and Chief Leeper is doing everything possible to effect the capture of the yeggmen.

Palmer had dined at his home, 201 Mill street, and he started for the business section, walking towards Virginia street. Hardly had he reached the corner, when he was confronted with the proverbial tall and short men. Both were masked. They leveled guns at Palmer's head and told him to give up his money. The draughtsman was obliging, and when he delivered all of the coin in his pocket, the robbers disappeared in the darkness.

William Carey was turning in to the entrance of his house when two men, presumably the same ones who held up Palmer afterwards, stepped towards him and gruffly commanded him to hold up his hands. Carey was searched and his currency taken. He was commanded to make no outcry and go into the residence. Obeying, Carey watched the men take to the Virginia street road leading southward.

News of the holdups spread among the inhabitants at the southside, and many were afraid to leave their homes during the night. The audacity of the men in committing the crimes at so early an hour gave rise to the belief that they are professional yeggmen from San Francisco. Their actions in both holdups, as told the police by the victims, show that they are not novices at the game.

A search of all of the alleged criminal haunts about town was made last night in an attempt to arrest the perpetrators of the deeds but the efforts of the police were unavailing.

Prosecute Highest Oil Trust Officials

FINDLAY O., Nov. 15.—Criminal prosecution of the highest officers of the Standard Oil company will be the next move of Prosecutor David according to a statement made by him tonight. In this prosecution it is stated that Attorney General Ellis will assist. Mr. David says he believes he has sufficient evidence to warrant him in bringing all of the officers and directors of the corporation of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, before the court. John D. Archbold, Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller are among those mentioned in connection with the latest move.

David ordered the grand jury held in service to the end of the term, with a view to bringing this new action. He said today that if he should be unable to get his evidence for this case in proper shape he would allow the matter to go over to the next grand jury, which will convene in January.

NEGRO MURDERER IS RUN TO COVER AND SHOT

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 15.—Will Harris, the negro who killed two Asheville policemen and three negroes Tuesday night, was shot by a posse of men today near Fletcher, about ten miles south of Asheville. At 8 o'clock this morning word was received that the negro had been discovered in a barn near Fletcher, and aid was requested. One hundred men left Asheville on horseback and surrounded the barn. Fire was opened upon the negro, who attempted to escape, returning the shots until he was killed. The posses have been composed of the best citizens and the negro population has joined in the search and contributed toward a relief fund for the families of the dead policemen.

Death Results From Raid of Robbers

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Two men are dead, two others dying and another seriously injured as the result of a deadly pistol duel tonight in the attempted hold-up of a saloon by two masked robbers. Shortly before 10 o'clock tonight, two men with handkerchiefs over their faces and revolvers in their hands, entered the saloon of John O'Connell at Sixth and Brannan streets. One of them came in by the Sixth street entrance, and the other through the Brannan street door, and immediately ordered those present to throw up their hands. Twelve men were in the saloon at the time, including the bartender, John O'Connell, a nephew of the proprietor.

All complied with the order given by the masked men, except George O'Connell, a retired and pensioned policeman, who drew his revolver and commenced shooting at the robber near the Sixth street entrance. Seeing the gun flash in O'Connell's hand, the robber began firing at the plucky ex-policeman at almost the same moment. While the two men were engaged in the deadly duel, that followed, the second robber began shooting at the patrons of the saloon, who were standing with their hands above their heads.

The entire affair lasted but a few moments. When the smoke of the battle cleared away, four men were lying on the floor of the saloon, three of them dying and the fourth seriously—O'Connell with two bullets in his chest, Stephen Lynch, twice shot in the abdomen, Louis Delatour with his jaw torn away by a bullet, and Michael Kennedy, shot in the ear.

From the sixth street door a trail of blood led across the street to the sidewalk opposite the saloon, where was found one of the robbers, with the mask still on, dead, with two bullets fired by O'Connell, in the chest. The second robber escaped and the police are scouring the city for him tonight.

The dead man was identified by Detective Sergeant O'Dea and Detective Reggan as Frank Burke, an ex-convict, recently released from San Quentin, and who was well known to the police in the south Market street district.

O'Connell died soon after being taken to the Central Emergency Hospital, where it is said that Lynch and Delatour, both laborers, cannot recover. Kennedy's wound, while serious, is not necessarily fatal.

O'Connell, the dead ex-policeman, served twenty years in the police department of this city and has a splendid record for bravery. He was retired and pensioned about two years ago.

Union of Farmers Join Tradesmen

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—Embodying a membership of over a million, claiming to represent more than one-seventh of the entire population of the country, the American Society of Equity, the recently formed national farmers' union, today became affiliated in a limited degree with the American Federation of labor, now in convention here.

President Gompers, who was present, urged a call on wage earners still outside the folds of the unions, to affiliate with them, and recommending that all members of the federation combine to bring this about.

SCHMITZ AND RUEF INDICTED

SHORTAGE OF COAL IS BECOME SERIOUS PROBLEM

So serious has the coal shortage become in this country that the agents of the fuel companies, according to the accusations of Reno people, have stopped undelivered shipments, and ordered the precious fuel forwarded to other consumers thought to have more pull or be more in need than the patrons of this city. Not only is the fuel supply of Reno inadequate—it is fell in Carson where the gas company was forced to make gas of wood and threatened to close down until the railroad could procure sufficient quantity to operate. The Yerringtons of the Virginia & Truckee railroad have ordered coal from San Francisco, despairing of ever getting it from Wyoming or Utah. The smelters in the latter state are on the point of yielding to the condition of affairs and stop operations. The responsibility for the coal shortage is placed on the Southern Pacific company, and the railroad in turn lays it to the prosperity of the country, where, east, west, north and south, cars are so scarce that shipments can not be made.

On the tracks of the Southern Pacific in Reno is a car of coal that is consigned to the Reno Power, Light & Water company which should have been delivered several days ago, but when the delivery was about to be made Agent Meyers of the Utah Fuel company from which it was purchased came here and stopped the transfer of the car. Meyers is also said to have forwarded a car that was sent to the O. G. Benshute fuel company here, and deprived the buyer of his rights. It is reported that another car of coal for the Carson Gas corporation was held up in Sparks after it had been expected for weeks; and Meyers is again accused of having tried to take it away to use in California.

The matter was brought up at a recent meeting of the Nevada Commercial League, and Secretary Taggart, who was for thirty years a railroad man, stated that it was no use for the organization to make a kick about conditions; that they could not be remedied, that all the railroad companies in the United States are affected the same way with a shortage of cars for hauling coal and other supplies; and that the prosperity of the country is the cause.

It has been stated by railroad officials with a knowledge of the growth and expected expansion of trade in the United States that five more transcontinental railroads could be built and when they were finished there would be more business than they could conveniently handle.

MEXICO AND PERU WILL IMPOSE EXPORT DUTY ON SILVER

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 15.—Secretary of Finance Limantour has submitted to Congress the draft of a proposed law, which, if it becomes effective, will establish an export duty of 15 per cent on Mexican silver coin. It is believed the law will be acted upon favorably by congress. It is claimed that the law is designed to keep silver of the old coinage at home, while at the same time granting the merchant the profit he would gain by the exportation at the present price of silver by handing over the dollars of the old coinage to the exchange and currency commission and receiving gold therefore.

For some time considerable apprehension has been felt in government and financial circles because of the outflow of silver from the country. Although the momentary commission declares the situation has been greatly exaggerated, it is true that silver dollars have been at a premium of two per cent in this capitol for a number of days past. The bill providing for an export tax on silver exports, was passed by the Chamber of Deputies tonight, which suspended all preliminary formalities and adopted the measure in accordance with an urgent request of the government presented by Minister Limantour.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 15.—Congress has authorized the imposition of an export duty of fifty per cent on silver coins. The melting of silver Peruvian coins has been prohibited and the government has issued a half a million sols in fractional silver coins. As a result of the measures adopted by the government the financial crisis caused by the increase in the price of silver in Peru appears to be passing.

DISCREDITED BOSS FURNISHES BAIL IN SUM OF $50,000

Charges Recite Five Cases of Extortion Practiced on Owners of French Restaurants

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The grand jury this afternoon found five separate indictments against Eugene Schmitz and Abraham Ruef, on the charge of extortion. On each charge the bail was fixed at $10,000 bond and $5,000 cash.

The first alleged crime was in connection with the Poodle Dog restaurant and the indictment recites that Ruef and Schmitz demanded money from the proprietor, Tony Blanco. As this demand was made, it is stated, on two occasions, two indictments were returned. Extortion, declared to have been practiced upon Ed Marchand, proprietor of Marchand's restaurant, is the basis of two more indictments. A demand made upon Joe Maifani, another restauranter, is the alleged offense on which the fifth and last indictment was founded.

The indictment were returned for the grand jury by Foreman R. P. Oliver, who presented the documents to Judge Murasky, who read them and placed them on file. He then proceeded to fix the bail for each charge.

In the presentation of the indictments against Mayor Schmitz and Political Leader Ruef, Assistant District Attorney Heney has fulfilled the promise that the first action taken by the grand jury would be to accuse Abraham Ruef with felony. This prophesy was made in open court two weeks ago, but nothing was then said that Mayor Schmitz would be drawn into the scandal. The indictment of Ruef was expected by the public but the people were not prepared for immediate direct action against the city's chief magistrate who is now on the Atlantic returning from a visit to Europe. For nearly two years the alleged objectionable relations between the French restaurants and the municipal administration have been a subject of severe criticism and public denunciation.

These restaurants, which were all destroyed by the April conflagration were frequently the cause of bitter assaults from the pulpit and press, the accusations being made that they were immoral and a menace to the welfare of the community. The so-called restaurants were a combination

NEW YORK CENTRAL CONVICTED OF REBATING

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company was convicted in the United States Circuit court today of granting a rebate of $26,000 to the American Sugar Refining company and the trial of the latter company for having accepted that sum as rebates, will begin tomorrow in the same court. The jury was out about two hours and immediately upon the announcement of its verdict of "guilty," counsel for the defendant company moved to set aside the verdict, which Judge Holt promptly denied.

When court met today, Joseph Choate, Counsel for the defendant company, moved to dismiss the indictment and upon its denial by Judge Holt, entered upon a long argument for the defense.

"We never know," said Mr. Choate, "either as lawyers or judges what a law really means until the Supreme court of the United States has spoken." He maintained contracts made by the defendant under the old interstate commerce law, granting lower rates than the regular schedule and carried out subsequent to the passage of the Elkins Act, did not constitute a violation of that act; that the practice of rebating, or granting lower rates, was not looked upon as a criminal offense. At that time, he argued, there were many powerful corporations, more skillful in evading the existing interstate law than the carriers themselves.

Mr. Choate maintained that there is no authority for continuing a criminal law as retroactive. The law is void as an ex post facto enactment.

In denying the motion, Judge Holt said that he thougnt the Elkins Act sufficiently binding upon the accused and there was sufficient evidence to send the case to the jury. The words "shall be" in the law, Judge Holt held, did not relate to future transportation alone, but to discriminations that might be or had been attempted to bring about shipments at less than the tariff or published schedule.

United States District Attorney Stimson made the closing argument for the government and in his charge to the jury, Judge Holt reviewed the evidence as adduced, as well the history of the passage of the Elkins Act. Judge Holt fixed November 20th as the date for argument on a motion to arrest judgment.

REFUSED TO ANSWER EMBARRASSING QUESTIONS

An Apology May be Offered Brazilian Ambassador by U. S. Government as Result of Indignities Received at Hands of Officious Inspectors

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Whether or not the ambassador of a friendly nation on arriving at an American port to take up quarters in Washington must be compelled to inform the immigration inspector whether he has ever been in prison, an alms house or an insane asylum or supported by charity, or whether he is a polygamist or anarchist, may be referred to the state department at Washington as a result of the refusal today of Joaquin Nabuco, Brazilian ambassador, to answer these questions when he arrived here today from Liverpool.

The purser of the Baltic reported to the immigration inspectors that his manifest was incomplete owing to the ambassador's refusal to answer questions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Upon being unofficially informed of the circumstances attending the landing of the Brazilian ambassador, Senor Nabuco, in New York harbor, Secretary Root promptly communicated with the department of commerce and labor and requested that the necessary instructions be telegraphed to the collector at New York to immediately extend the courtesies of the port to the ambassador and his secretary.

"It is probable an apology will be offered to the ambassador and a severe admonition given to the immigration officials responsible for the indignity.

CUT OFF WITH INCOME OF $25,000 A YEAR

DENVER, Nov. 15.—The will of the late Ellen Smith, of Los Angeles, disposing of upwards of $2,500,000, filed today in the probate court, shows that one of his sons, Samuel E. Smith, of Leadville has been cut off with the life income from $25,000, set aside as a trust fund.

The estate is practically divided between the widow, Emily Lois Smith, who receives one-half, and the other two children, Frank Le Roy Smith and Cora [illegible] Carnahan, each of whom receives one-fourth. These children are named as executors.

FATE OF CHINESE LABOR IS SEALED

Revelations of Immoral Practices Prevaling in Transvaal Compounds, Made Subject of Rebate in British Parliament.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Both houses of parliament tonight debated the unpleasant subject arising from the recent unauthorized publication of the "Bucknill" report, which gives the results of an inquiry into the conditions of Chinese labor in South Africa and which reveals the systematic compounds there.

The principal debate was given today by R. H. Lehmann, liberal, who in the house debate, obtained leave to move the adjournment of the house to discuss, "The Prevalence of Gross Immorality in the Chinese Compounds in the Transvaal," as discovered by the "Bucknill" report and "the imperative necessity for the government to take immediate steps to stop this state of affairs."

The motion that all strangers should withdraw having been rejected, Mr. Lehmann before a crowded house, moved the adjournment. In a studiously moderate speech, he declared the country was in the presence of a great moral disaster and asked the government for information on specific points and what it intended to do in the matter.

Winston Churchill, parliamentary Secretary to the Colonial office, replied on behalf of the government. He said it had been decided not to publish the "Bucknill" report because it was unprintable and because the evidence on which it was based had been obtained confidentially. It was undoubtedly true, he said, that such vices existed in many compounds, but the opponents of Chinese labor always recognized that such a state of affairs was inevitable. These evils had long been foreseen, then, why this belated intervention upon the part of the bishops and archbishops.

The revelations of the "Bucknill" report, although they did not bear out the statements alleged, nevertheless disclosed a condition of affairs sufficiently unhealthy and immoral to seal the fate of Chinese labor.

CHORAL CONCERT WILL BE GREAT SUCCESS

The final rehearsal of the Treble Clef club was held last night and the society was declared in splendid shape to present the programme of good music tonight at the Congregational church.

Mrs. Wright, the director of the musical organization, is not new to this line of work and has had a great deal of experience in training voices individually and in societies. She is well pleased with the showing the new choral society is making and is confident that the Treble Clef club will more than justify the large audience which will be attracted by the music Friday night.

The following notice given Mrs. Wright shows what she accomplished in Santa Barbara:

Under the careful direction of Mrs. Genevieve H. Wright, the club has attained a skill in the rendition of part songs which cannot be excelled by any similar organization.—Daily Independent, Santa Barbara.

WAS NOT IN AT THE FINISH OF THE PARTY

Only one feature marred the pleasure of the party given Wednesday evening by Miss Madge Little at her home in Glendale, to the seniors of the Reno High school. While the merriment was at its height and everybody enjoying the hospitality of the charming young hostess was serenely happy, a ring at the bell attracted attention and in response to what was declared an urgent call Frank Hoddins, one of the seniors, went to the door. He was immediately kidnapped.

To make the matter as bad as possible he was carried off and his captors were despised freshmen. They did not let him return, either, but took him to Sparks, where they kept him until the last car left for Reno.

Hoddins states he does not mind missing the refreshments which were yet to come when he was rudely carried off, though this loss is not to be underestimated but he wonders and worries how "she" ever got home and who took "her."

MANY APPLICANTS FOR ALTER'S PLACE

Captain of Police's Position is Bone of Contention Among Those Who Would Work for Municipality—Salary Said to be But $90 a Month

Applications for the position of captain of police are flooding the office of Chief Leeper, and it is stated that forty men have asked or intend to ask for the position. None of these men are members of the department at the present, however, it is said.

The salary of captain of police in Reno is $90 a month. While this would seem inadequate and a salary at which the city could not expect to keep a capable man, it is declared strange that so many should want the position. Labor, skilled and unskilled, is unprocurable in Nevada, if one would believe the reports from employers; yet there are many who would cast their lot with the municipality, probably expectant of an increase in pay soon.

A patrolman receives $80 per month, and the various officers in this branch of city government are credited with saying that they would rather be out on their beats than confined to the desk as captain with only $10 extra compensation for the service.

Chief Leeper is not yet ready to announce his appointee. When it is done—and that will probably be today, for last night was Captain Alter's last time on duty since his resignation, the city council must formally confirm it.

KUCHS' FATHER SENDS $10,000 FOR BAIL

When Charles Kuchs gets well enough to leave the Riverside hotel he will not be compelled to go to the county hospital and wait his trial for the killing of Edward Ferrell in a quarrel it was alleged over the accused man's wife. Kuch's father has wired $10,000 to the Farmers and Merchants Bank to cover the bond and Richard Kirman and J. M. Short of the bank, signed as sureties.

The services of Deputy Sheriff Keene who has guarded Kuchs at his apartment in the Riverside hotel being no longer required, he was relieved from duty and the accused man will be allowed to go and come as he likes.

The bond was filed with Justice of the Peace Frank Bell yesterday and is guarantee that Kuchs may be had by the authorities at any and all times that he may be required by the authorities.

Though still suffering somewhat from the wound he received in his duel with Ferrell, Kuchs is in better health and spirits than before and is confident he will not be called upon to stand punishment for his part in the fight.

Meantime District Attorney Moran is pressing a vigorous and earnest prosecution in collecting evidence, and is showing zeal in his efforts to bring justice about in case a crime has been committed.

JIMMY GARDNER WINS.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Nov. 15.—Jack Dougherty, the Milwaukee welter weight, was knocked out tonight in the ninth round by Jimmy Gardner of Lowell, Massachusetts. The fight was a whirlwind affair, while it lasted. Up to the eighth round, neither man had gained any decided advantage. During this period, however, Dougherty took the lead and had his opponent in trouble. Gardner came back strong in the ninth while Dougherty seemed weak from his exertions in the previous round. During an exchange of blows, Gardner connected his right with Dougherty's jaw and the latter dropped to the floor for the count of nine. The same blow was repeated three times. The last time Dougherty went down he was unable to arise at the count of ten and was declared the loser.

BLAIR GOES ON THE ROAD.

Wilbur Blair, who for some time has been connected with the W. I. Mitchell Co., commission merchants, has resigned his position with that firm and accepted a place with a large firm of Sacramento grocers, for whom he will travel. Blair will not be a stranger in Reno nor in Nevada as the position he has taken is the one made vacant by Andy Hample who, in turn is coming to Reno to engage in the business of stock broker.

PEARY'S STEAMER SAFE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 15.—A despatch to the Associated Press from Chateau Bay, Labrador, announces the arrival there at six o'clock this evening of the Arctic steamer Roosevelt, with Commander Peary aboard, which had been delayed by heavy weather further up the coast. The steamer is bound for Chateau Bay and is expected to sail Friday morning for Sydney.

WYOMING BANK FAILS.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 15.—A despatch to the Deseret News from Evanston, Wyo., reports the closing there today of the Bank of Beckwith & Co., owing to financial troubles. No statement of liabilities is given. The bank is one of the oldest in Western Wyoming.

AUSTIN COUPLE HERE.

Robert F. Kyle and his bride, who formerly was Miss Minnie I. Harris are spending their honeymoon in Reno. They arrived from Austin where they were married last Sunday. Both are well known Nevadans. The bride is a daughter of this state, and the bridegroom an adopted son, having come here about a year ago. They will remain in Reno and vicinity, visiting relatives, until December 1st.

BLAIR RETURNED.

Hawaiians Are Welcome to Come Here Again

The Band From the South Sea Islands Play and Sing to Unbounded Pleasure of Reno

ONE of the greatest treats that Reno has ever enjoyed was dispensed last night when the Royal Hawaiian band came to town and played at McKissick's opera house. It was great and everybody said so. It was so good in fact that an additional programme is arranged for Sunday afternoon besides the advertised entertainment Sunday evening.

Without being heavy and ultra-classic, the band numbers were worthy and standard. Suppe's "Poet and Peasant," Mascagni's undying "Intermezzo," from "Cavaleira Rusticana," the "Bohemian Girl," selection and a waltz or two, were the band offerings.

Balance of tone, precision of attack, unanimity of accent and sympathy of interpretation were some of the characteristics of the playing of the band under Berger.

Their tone is mellow, smooth and luscious, and there is an absence of the "squeak" that so frequently results from a preponderance of clarinettes. The band is modern. It is a Sousa band in instrumentation. There are more clarinettes than cornets, the latter being used to emphasize and enforce the "lead." The use of the Helican horns is also novel. There are no slide trombones, all of the heavy and larger brass being circular in shape, after the fashion of a cavalry band, suitable for wearing 'round the neck and shoulders, the Hawaiians being horsemen.

But it was not so much the technical arrangement of the band nor the variety of music they played, that charmed, as the manner in which they played. Something of the racial nature of the South Sea Islander crept into the tone; it was mellow as the murmur of calm waters along the beach and soft as winds, tropic with warmth and sweet with perfume, through date palm trees. The Hawaiians are natural musicians and they bring to their art the warmth of the southern races. The lack of blare and brassy noise was notable, and those sitting near the stage were not offended by even the greatest fortissimo that a released band gave forth.

But the band was not all. There were singers as well as players, and though they sang Anglacised or Germanized Hawaiian music they sang it with the spirit that an Irishman sings Mavourneen.

In the quartettes and choruses the beautiful quality of the Hawaiian voices was shown to exquisite advantage. The national song of the Hawaiians was sung by Miss Lei Lehua and the chorus was joined in by the band, vocally. It was beautiful. Miss Lei Lehua has a voice of indescribable charm. Whether it is soprano or contralto no one knows nor cares. It is luscious, and in register and all those other things that pedants prate about it is perfect.

If there were five more chances to hear the band, it is likely that at the fifth concert you would have to get your seats early to avoid standing up. Incidentally the concert is worth listening to even if you have to stand on your own feet throughout the programme, which incidentally again, isn't long enough. Everybody wanted some more last night.

NORTHERN STORM IS CAUSE OF GREAT LOSS

On the Cowlitz, which tonight is the most serious menace, the town of Catlin has been washed away, happily in this case the inhabitants had sufficient warning to get to the highlands.

In this same district there is a rumor that forty farmers who had taken refuge on an island are in serious danger unless the Cowlitz stops its rise.

According to passengers who arrived here today on a train from Tacoma, the Cowlitz valley is a vast inland ocean for miles, the railroad grade stretching like a ribbon across it, being the only land in sight.

These passengers state that at Seattle little or no damage has been done by the storm, it being in the rural districts to the east and north where the storm has wrought its havoc. According to them, from Saturday until Wednesday since when there has been no communication from the sound, the rain poured down as if shot through a pipe. It was accompanied by a heavy wind which made it hazardous for pedestrians to venture out. They give the Northern Pacific railroad high praise for the efforts made to keep its traffic moving.

Passengers were taken to Tacoma by boat, and from there brought to Portland over the normal route. Even this is now no longer possible since the bridges at Olequa and Kelso have been swept away. Northbound passengers, who left here on this road, were unable to get by castle Rock, and most of them returned to Portland.

On the Oregon Railway and Navigation's track a slide at Dobson today threatened to tie up traffic indefinitely, but reports tonight are that its size was greatly exaggerated and that the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific trains will leave here on time tonight over this line.

Telegraph and telephone wires north of Portland are prostrated, there being no communication whatever with any point further than Kalama.

According to District Forecaster Beals of the United States weather bureau, the center of the storm has passed the Rocky Mountain range and it is the after effects which is now causing the damage. The forecast for the district is occasional rain, with much lower temperature, which presages a speedy cessation of the existing flood.

PORTLAND Or., Nov. 15.—Regarding conditions in eastern Washington, Wire Chief Wingate of the Western Union, says that part of the state is not suffering from the storm except by loss of train and telegraph service.

"I have received a report from Wenatchee, in central Washington, that the railroad and county bridges are gone and the lowlands flooded along the Wenatchee river," said Mr. Wingate. "Trains arrived in Spokane today practically on time from all directions, except Seattle. I have heard of no reports of trouble north of Walla Walla."

BAKER CITY, Or., Nov. 15.—The worst wind storm in years has prevailed here for two days and is just dying out tonight. Trees were blown across the Sumpter Valley Railway tracks, delaying trains and falling across transmission wires of the light and power company in the mountains near water power plants, and throwing the town in darkness. Telephone and telegraph lines have been down but telegraph communication with Portland is partially restored tonight.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 15.—A telephone message to the Missoulian from Wallace, Idaho, says water is four feet deep in the streets. The rain which has been falling for the past few days was accompanied by a terrific wind storm this morning. Trees were uprooted and considerable damage was done to small buildings.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 15.—A brief dispatch received here today reports a wind storm of unusual severity at Nampa, Idaho, where a big warehouse owned by the Western Idaho Sugar company was blown in at both ends and unroofed. Three men employed in the warehouse were painfully injured. The company's main factory was not damaged.

Telegraph communication with Nampa and Boise is cut off, all wires between Glenn's Ferry and Mountain Home being down. The storm is believed to have been general in the Snake river valley in Western Idaho.

RED CROSS FINANCES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The October bulletin of the American Red Cross announces that the amount still available in the relief fund is $2,626,943. This money is in the national branch Red Cross treasury. The total receipts of the Red Cross for the Chile earthquake fund was $6,016.

GRAND JURY INDICTS THE FRISCO GRAFTERS

of eating house, lodging house and liquor resort. The agitation for their suppression about two years ago apparently reached the city officials and orders were issued that they be deprived of licenses which practically closed them. The doors remained locked for a short time and then the restaurants were permitted to re-open with "some restrictions." Soon the houses were again in full operation along the old lines. Some of the local newspapers at the time made charges that a fund had been collected amounting to thousands of dollars and that the money had been paid into official hands to lift the embargo. The accusations further alleged that a monthly tax of about $5,000 was paid by the restaurants for 'protection.' The renewals of the liquor licenses were granted by the police commission, a majority of which was in accord with the administration of Major Schmitz.

It has never directly been charged that Mayor Schmitz was concerned with the payment of the so-called corruption fund but no hesitancy was used in connecting Ruef's name with the alleged illegal use of money. Ruef, indeed, admitted that he had received fees from the proprietors of the restaurants, but declared that he acted merely as an attorney in promoting the interests of his clients, whose property rights had been trespassed upon.

According to the indictments, Ruef and Schmitz on the 15th of January, 1904, extorted $1175 from Tony Blanco of the Poodle Dog, and on February 6 of the same year they forced him to give up $1000 more. The third indictment is based on the extortion of $1175 from the proprietors of Marchand's restaurant. They are charged with demanding and receiving on the same day, $1175 from the proprietors of Delmonico's restaurant. It is charged on the 6th of the following February they forced these same men to yield $1000 by threatening to take away their liquor license.

At 7 o'clock tonight Abraham Ruef proceeded in an automobile to the home of Superior Judge Frank J. Murasky, where he surrendered himself to Sheriff Thomas O'Neill who met Ruef there by appointment. The representative of a surety company accompanied Ruef to Judge Murasky's home and there qualified for Ruef's bonds, which amount on the five counts is $50,000. An order of release from custody was then made by the judge.

When asked for a statement, Ruef said:

"John D. Rockefeller was indicted yesterday and I am indicted today. The matter is too absurd to be worth a statement from me. All I ask is an immediate trial on the charges on which I have been indicted by the grand jury."

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR MOANA SPRINGS

Increase in Business at the Resort as Well as in Reno Prevents Charles Short From Continuing Active Superintendency.—Ostreicher Selected

The option that Al North, George Wingfield and Goldfield associates had on the Moana Springs resort has fallen through, and the popular place remains in the hands of North, Evans and Short as formerly.

Increasing business at the baths and the pressing duties of the owners prevented the manager Charles Short from continuing in the role of active management, so a new manager has been installed.

The choice for manager fell on I. Ostreicher who assumed his duties yesterday. He is an experienced hotel man and accustomed to catering to the wishes and desires of a transient public. Formerly he was manager and proprietor of the Depot Hotel in Elko, but for several years has made his home in this city and has a wide circle of personal friends.

In view of the approach of winter he is installing stoves in the individual dressing rooms. This will add largely to the comfort and pleasure of the bathers and is a much needed improvement.

Other innovations will be introduced, says the new management and the standard of excellence that has been maintained at the Springs will not only be maintained but improved.

SANATORIUM WALL BLOWN DOWN BY WIND

Scaffolding in Front of Clay Peters Building Falls in Storm and Four Men Narrowly Escape With Their Lives—Fences and Awning Affected

Wind caused havoc in Reno yesterday morning. The storm blew in the front wall of the Adventist sanitorium, located on Ralston Heights, and tore down the heavy scaffolding which was used in the construction on the Clay Peters building. In the former accident the loud boom of the caving structure caused a panic in the homes of the residents near the scene, who heard the sound, and in the latter affair four men narrowly escaped with their lives, being hit by the falling timbers.

The Adventist sanitorium is composed of concrete blocks. Work was begun on it last August. The force of the wind destroyed it at 6:30 a. m. The workmen were at their labors a short time after the accident and it is said that if they had been there sooner it is probable they would have lost their lives.

It is not because of poor construction, according to the statement of a laborer, that the building was partly destroyed. The concrete was not supported by the remaining structure, for work was not finished.

The wind blew down fences and awnings about town.

UNSIGHTLY POLES TO BE TAKEN DOWN

Engineer Mathews Begins Work Of Laying Underground Cables For Telephone System in Business Section of Reno.

Engineer A. J. Mathews of the Pacific States Telephone company is now engaged with a force of men putting the underground telephone cables in place throughout Reno. The district in which the crew is working is from Virginia and Miss streets north to the alley between Fourth and Fifth; and from West Sierra to Center and Peavine.

The cables will be used for the entire business section, and aerial extensions will carry the lines, protected, far out in the residence districts. Mathews stated yesterday that by about April 1st the unsightly poles which now support the wires about town will be removed.

Nine cables in all will be placed in the conduits. Five are for the main lines and they will contain 808 wires. One will contain toll wires with forty No. 14 wires to take care of the long distance connections. As extensions to the cables 8,000 feet of laterals will terminate the main cables. Then the aerial cables will be fed from the underground wires.

Fifty room telephones were connected and tested successfully at the Riverside hotel last night. Manager Gosse states that 150 phones will be placed in the hostelry before the workmen finish the construction of the building.

PARTY RATES WILL NOT BE GIVEN AGAIN

Interstate Commerce Law Causes Railroads to Issue Circulars That no More Collective Rates Will be Allowed Theatrical Troupes

Sad news indeed to the theatrical and sporting world is the announcement that all railroads must cut out party rates. It has been the custom in the passenger departments of all lines to furnish special rates to parties of ten or more travelers. This rate was not open to the general public, although enterprising persons in some instances secured the party rates by traveling together. Recently a person planning a trip from Colorado to Chicago advertised in the newspapers of that state for additional numbers to their party. When ten or more persons with Chicago as their destination were found, demands were made for the party rate.

Numerous methods like this had to be employed by the public to receive the benefits accorded theatrical companies, and as the rule was not open to all the interstate commerce commission has ruled that the party rate must be cancelled by all roads.

No Provision Made

Some of the organized traveling parties enumerated in the circulars are Theatrical companions, glee clubs, cricket clubs, baseball, football, basketball and boat clubs, operatic and concert and musical clubs. These organizations are named specifically because they have been named in the tariff covering party rates. Under the ruling of the interstate commerce commission all party rates must be cut out. All passenger departments now declare their affairs more complicated than ever as excursion rates are now in doubt. Railroads have been in the habit of granting a special rate to large organizations when a certain number of passengers are guaranteed by those promoting the excursion. It is not generally believed by the railroad legal departments that the annulling of party rates applies to excursion arrangements.

Show World Suffers

This action is thought to have been taken as a result of a circular sent originally to the Chicago & Alton by Secretary Moseley of the Interstate commerce commission announcing the ruling made by that body. The action will create considerable worry among theatrical managers. There are hundreds of second and third rate companies now on the road covering circuits which are playing under the party rate, but with the abolishment of this many companies will be forced to the wall. Some companies have traveling expenses reaching thousands of dollars during the season. It is said the lowest traveling figure for a theatrical company of about ten members throughout the union is $10.50 for the season. While no figures are furnished on the party rate, it is admitted by railroad officials that traveling cost will be almost doubled. While football and other athletic organizations will find it somewhat strange to pay full fare per man, theatrical companies will feel the effect of the change most.

Railroad men say the attitude of the interstate commerce commission in regard to party rates and the compliance of the railroads has added to the complicated condition of passenger affairs resulting from the passage of the rate bill. A conference of passenger association representatives is to be held in Washington within a few days when rates will be considered and adjusted. The theatrical rate matter will be one of the principal subjects discussed. Steps will be taken to untangle passenger affairs by accepting an interpretation of the theatrical rate ruling which will be approved by the commission.

POPULAR COUPLE IS WEDDED IN WADSWORTH

An interesting wedding ceremony was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at Wadsworth when Rev. C. L. Mears of Reno, united in bonds of holy matrimony, Allan L. MacDougal and Miss Alice Maude Perkins.

The bridegroom is manager of Griswold's mercantile establishment in Wadsworth and the bride is a sister of Mrs. J. A. Ingalls. The wedding ceremony took place at the residence of J. A. Ingalls, who is well known throughout the state as a successful mining operator.

Both the bride and bridegroom have a large number of friends, not alone in the home town but all over Nevada, who will wish them a happy and prosperous married life.

The bridal couple were attended by Miss Edith A. Murray of Reno and Allan S. Edo of this city also. The ceremony was witnessed by few except the family and relatives of the bride.

It will be about the 1st of December before they return to their new home in Wadsworth where the bridegroom, in anticipation of the happy consummation of the romance, has recently purchased and elegantly furnished a beautiful home.

COW KILLED WHEN BUILDING FALLS

Storm Plays Havoc in Sparks, Destroying Awnings, Blowing Down Fences and Stopping Business. Wind Blows at Rate of Fifty Miles an Hour

Wind tore down the streets of Sparks early yesterday, sweeping away fences, tearing down awnings, killing a cow in a small building a short distance south of the city and reminding the residents of a good old fashioned hurricane.

Business was practically at a standstill during the height of the gale, the wind whipped around the corners and the shoppers were afraid to venture out; those that did go into the open air were blown along with the gusts and the dust from many streets filled their eyes.

Along Harriman avenue the awnings in front of the stores on the north side were whipped to pieces, dust filled the stores and no little damage was done to goods on the shelves.

It was reported on the streets that a falling building, ruined by the storm, crushed the back of a cow on a farm a short distance below town. The animal subsequently died from the injuries.

GO TO HOSPITAL

Frank Ross and Edward Brant were to have been taken to a hospital in Sacramento last night for medical care as the result of accidents received in the shops. Ross' hand was mashed by a piece of iron falling on it, and Brant sustained a cut over the eye by a swinging sledge.

EIGHT KILLED BY A PREMATURE EXPLOSION

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 15.—Two Americans, Sam Steele and Victor Bell, and six Mexicans, were killed by a premature explosion at a lime quarry nine miles east of Douglas at 5 o'clock today. The men were buried under a pile of rock. The coroner has gone from here to hold an inquest. The quarry is one at which lime rock is secured for the smelters in this city. A gang of men has been sent from the smelters to assist in recovering the bodies. The explosion was heard and felt in this city. Mr. Samuels, brother-in-law of Steele, is badly crushed and not expected to live.

Several boxes of giant powder were being loaded into drill holes to blow the rock from the side of the quarry when a premature explosion occurred, knocking thousands of tons of rock on the men at their work below.

CARSON GETS IN LINE TO BOOST THE LEAGUE

Secretary Taggart of the Nevada Commercial League, returned yesterday from Carson City after spending a day in discussing the affairs of the commercial organization and soliciting the assistance of the Carson merchants and professional men.

The support was double what he or the other officers of the league had dared to hope, optimistic as they were. It was the same in the capital city as it was in the metropolis of Nevada; everybody approached lauded the purposes of the league and subscribed money and influence to aid in its work for the state.

Fallon and Hazen will be visited by the secretary on Friday and Saturday, and it is hoped by the directors of the organization that the assistance from these two thriving towns will be proportionately as great as that given the league in Carson and Reno.

Taggart states that he has no difficulty in showing the merchants that the purposes of the league are statewide in scope and not particularly to advantage Reno over any other city, the necessity for a league which will bind together the commercial interests of the entire state is so apparent to all who have made a study of Nevada conditions that they are willing and anxious to lend their individual aid and collective support.

The secretary expects to return to Reno Saturday night or Sunday morning.

HARMLESS PRANK RESULTS IN DEATH

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A holdup by six men in an automobile in Central Park west early today, cost one of the automobilists, Wiggo Brandt, his life.

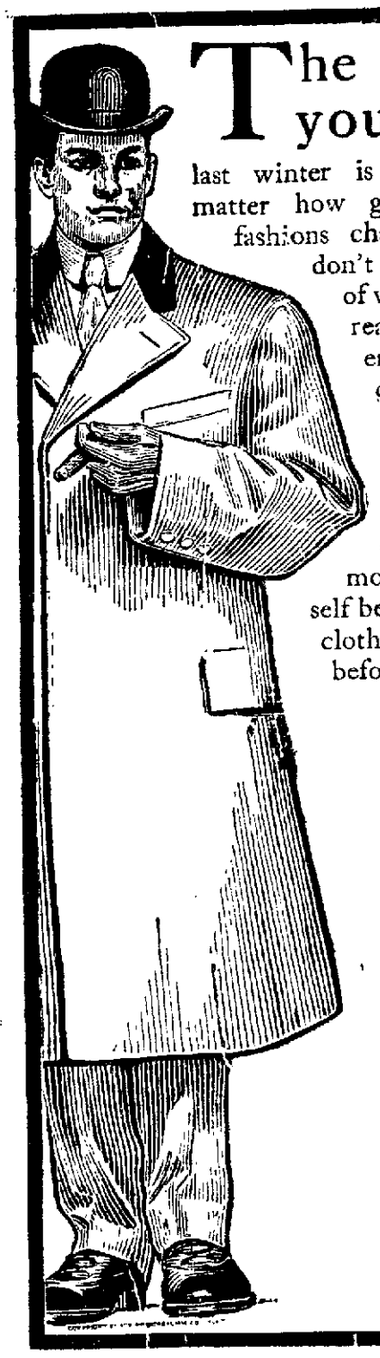

The police believe the holdup was intended merely as a prank by half a dozen chauffeurs who were returning from a ball. Brandt's death, however, caused them to search for the other occupants of the car. The victims of the holdup were Milton Robbe, his friend, W. G. Chittick, and a cabman who was driving the two men to their homes. Brandt was thrown from the car by the sudden starting of it and run over. He died soon afterward.

RIGHT TO PRACTICE PHARMACY QUESTIONED

The meeting of the state board of pharmacy was held as scheduled yesterday at the Riverside hotel. There were present J. Taber of Elko, William Brown of Winnemucca, A. M. Cole of Virginia City and S. J. Hodgkinson of this city. Many important matters are to be acted upon by the board, one of which is the passing upon three applicants, and another the settling of the question as to the right of certain druggists now practicing in the state, to continue such practices. The board refused to divulge the names of such applicants, pending the investigation, alleging that in case their right to practice is well founded, it would work an injustice to them to be advertised in an ambiguous light.

Tod Sloan Only Drawing Fifty Dollar Salary

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Tod Sloan, the famous jockey, admitted on the stand in supplementary proceedings in the Supreme court recently that his income is only $50 a week. He also confesed that he had received $600 for a one weeks' engagement at Keeney's Theater in Brooklyn in a vaudeville sketch, entitled "The American Jockey." For accepting and using the money, it is said, Sloan may be prosecuted for contempt of Court.

Justice Greenbaum issued some time ago an injunction restraining Sloan from touching any money that might be due him. According to the terms of the injunction this money ought to have gone toward satisfying a judgment for $4288, obtained by Henry D. Whipple, an architect and builder, representing a balance on a contract for $10,750 for building a house for Sloan at Sheephead Bay.

That the jockey, whose reputation extended around the globe, and whose income not many years ago amounted to about $100,000, double that of the President of the United States, had been reduced to a paltry salary of $50 a week, was a surprise even to his friends. Sloan testified that he is in partnership with John J. McGraw, manager of the New York base ball team, in a billiard parlor at Forty-Second Street and Broadway, and that McGraw paid him the salary.

When Sloan was in the heyday of his vogue he spent money like water. In London he is said to have paid $100 a day for a suite in the Cecil, and at Saratoga several years ago rivalled the millionaire turfmen by his lavish expenditures.

Sloan said he lived at the Hotel Spaulding, Forty-third Street and Sixth Avenue, where he occupied two rooms, for which he paid $90 a month. On plea of illness the case was adjourned. Sloan looked sick as he appeared in court.

Lawyer Jacob Stiefel, who represented the complainant, said after the adjournment that Sloan was undoubtedly liable for punishment for contempt in having used the $600 received for his performance at Keeney's.

FITZIMMONS HAS TROUBLE

Bob Fitzsimmons and his young wife, who married him for fame, which he lost about a month after the wedding, are having trouble again, and the once-renowned scrapper may get another flitting grip on fame by figuring in a sensational divorce case.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons alleges, and is prepared to make out a prima facie case, that Bob is distressingly inadequate in personal appearance. He has freckles; his nose is bent and broken; his ears are displaced and look like puffballs; his face is red and scarred. He has a hand like a ham, and his fingers like sausages.

Besides, Fitzsimmons, where he was admired, is now pitied. Furthermore, he is a little near with the money-bag.

All these separate complaints are grouped under the single head of cruelty and backed up by many a grevious specification. Mrs. Fitzsimmons stands ready to prove on reliable testimony that Fitz balked at mortgaging his home to purchase a blue-ribbon bull terrier; that he refused to yield up his bank account to the furrier for a variegated sheathing of ermine and seal; that he denied her the right to bathe her pet poodle in the champagne, and that, on one occasion, when she was absent, Fitz had fed it on milk that was cold.

CURRENCY REFORM COMMITTEE AGREES

American Bankers' Association Will Draft Bill for Presentation to Congress Providing for the Issuance of Credit Bank Notes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The plan of currency reform, agreed upon by the committee of the American Bankers' Association and the New York Chamber of Commerce, on which they have been at work for four days, was made public today. Before adjournment finally today, a committee was appointed to whom was intrusted the drafting of a bill for presentation to congress, which will embody the ideas expressed in the statement made public by the committee of bankers today. The plan agreed upon by the committees contemplates the issue under government supervision, of credit bank notes by National bank, equal to forty per cent of their bonded circulation, subject to a tax of two and a half per cent per annum. An increase of credit notes under certain conditions; a further issue of credit notes equal to twelve and a half per cent of a bank's capital at a tax of five per cent per annum, the establishment of a guarantee fund for the redemption of credit notes of failed banks; provision for active daily redemption of credit notes; repealing the existing law limiting the bond-secured notes to $3,000,000 per month and the deposit of all public moneys above reasonable working balances in national banks without collateral securities, on which the banks are to pay two per cent.

The report sets out a series of principles which were agreed upon by the bankers and which they believe underlie a correct solution of the currency problem, so far as it relates to the issue of a bank note currency. The report says.

"We therefore unanimously recommend the enactment into law of the following, having the firm conviction that thereby will be provided a bank note currency safe beyond peradventure and automatically varying in volume as needs of commerce vary. Credit bank notes: Any national bank having been doing business for one year and having a surplus fund equal to twenty per cent of its capital, shall have authority to issue or dispose as follows, subject to the rules and regulations to be determined by the comptroller of currency, approximately an amount equal to four per cent of its bond-secured circulation, subject to a tax at the rate of two and a half per cent per annum upon the average amount outstanding. Provided that if at any time in the future the present proportion of the total outstanding unmatured United States bonds to the total capitalization of all national banks shall diminish, then the authorized issue of credit notes shall be increased to a correspondingly greater per centage of its bond-secured notes. (3) A further amount equal to twelve and a half per cent of its capital, subject to a tax at the rate of five per cent per annum upon the average amount outstanding in excess of the first amount mentioned. The total of credit notes and bond-secured notes shall not exceed the capital.

The unused portion of this initial payment shall be an asset of the contributing banks and shall be refunded from time to time when this may be done without reducing the guaranty fund below an amount equal to five per cent of the credit notes taken out.

Redemption: The comptroller of the currency shall designate numerous redemption cities conveniently located in the various parts of the country. Through the agency of the banks in such cities adequate facilities shall be provided for active redemption of credit notes.

The provision of the existing law limiting the retirement of bond secured notes to $3,000,000 per month shall be repealed.

All public moneys above a reasonable working balance from whatever source derived, shall be currently deposited from day to day in national banks without requiring collateral security or special guaranty therefor, but in no case shall the balance carried with any bank exceed fifty per cent of the capital thereof. All banks receiving such public moneys on deposit shall pay into the United States treasury interest thereon at the rate of two per cent per annum.

WILL INVESTIGATE STANDARD OIL METHODS

Initial Move Made to Dissolve Gigantic Trust With Its Seventy Constituent Corporations and Enjoin It From Entering Into Contract

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—The United States government today made the initial move to dissolve the Standard Oil company so-called monopoly, by filing in the United States district court in St. Louis, a petition in equity against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and its seventy constituent corporations and partnerships, and seven defendants, including John D. Rockefeller and William Rockefeller, asking that the combination be declared unlawful and in the future enjoined from entering into any contract or combination in restraint of trade. The suit is brought under the Sherman anti-trust act, which the standard and its constituent companies and the seven individual defendants are charged with violating. In a formal statement by Attorney General Moody, he says that criminal prosecution is reserved for future consideration.

The investigation into methods pursued by the Standard Oil company began early in 1905, and the results were laid before congress last May by President Roosevelt, who accompanied the report by a special message, denouncing the apparent methods pursued. The president asserted at that time that suits would be instituted in the United States courts to abolish the combination and the filing of the suit today marks the initial step.

The defendants are entitled to one month in which to enter their appearance and sixty days in which to file answer to allegations in the petition.

RED TOP CLIMBS UP WITH OTHER BULLFROGS

Another Active Day on the Local Stock and Bond Exchange Results In Further Advances in Nevada Mining Securities.

Red Top is climbing. It has caught the infection from the Mohawk apparently jumped up fifty cents, with plenty of offers at the advanced price of $4.75. Wednesday price on Red Top $4.25 bid but no sellers Yesterday Red Top found few sellers at $4.75 and closed strong at the price. Yellow Horse was active in the selling, and the price at which 7,000 shares were sold was in advance of the previous day's quotations. Wednesday evening Yellow Horse went for .08½ and .09. Yesterday .09¾ and .10 were the prevailing prices. Diamondfield Triangle made a substantial advance as did Diamondfield and so did Original Bullfrog. In fact all of the Bullfrog are feeling the result of the recent strikes and big finds in the Bullfrog country. Following are the quotations for yesterday:

POWHATTAN IN CLASS WITH TONOPAH MINE

The mining interests of Humboldt county are rapidly centering around Powhatta which is declared to be entitled to rank with the great properties of Tonopah and Goldfield.

Assays from the mine run as high as $30,000 and the strike in the new camp is attracting capitalists with money to invest and prospectors with labor and energy and ability to invest. It is the concensus of the opinion of all who have examined the district that the mines will make bonanzas and add wonderfully to the fame of Nevada as a wealth producing state.

FINDS AN HONEST MAN

R. McMenamin, a teamster, has proved that there are honest men in Reno. Recently he found a watch and chain belonging to Felix Vogliotti. The watch was cased in solid gold and the chain was likewise unalloyed with baser metal. Moreover the charm that hung pending from the chain was set in stones of value and the whole was worth something over $100. There was no name on watch, or chain or charm, but through an advertisement the teamster found to whom the property belonged and promptly returned it to its delighted owner, and refused a reward. He and Vogliotti quarreled about the reward. The latter finally persuaded McMenamin to accept it; pleased, as he said, to pay double the amount of the reward to find, like Diogenes, an honest man, with or without the use of a lantern.

GREAT OPERATIONS TO DEVELOP ELY

Immense Enterprises Are On Foot For the Exploitation of the Wealthy Copper District and Mining Activities Into the Very Town.

Colossal enterprises are on foot for development of the mines in the hills back of Ely as the result of the relelation of the fact that the great ore body stretches eastward from the big properties at Copper Flat and Pilot Knob and passes under the ground upon which the town is built. This was always the belief of the old prospectors who have watched Ely's growth, but it was not until the McDonger be debated.

Donald-Ely shaft was sunk that it was proven as a fact that could no

Two strong companies have acquired much of the mining property on the hills to the north and south of Robinson canyon, just west of Ely, and both are preparing to drive tunnels into the hearts of the hills, with the expectation of striking the ore body revealed in the workings of the McDonald-Ely.

Fletcher and Grant, representing capitalists interested in the Sullivan trust company, of Goldfield, have secured options upon the General Logan, Hillside, Paymaster and other mining properties on the south side of the canyon from Tom and Joe O'Neill, A. C. House, J. B. Simpson, Dr. H. D. Cowen, O. E. Mann, Thos. Rockhill and others, and agents of moneyed men of the State Bank of Reno, Carson and Goldfield have secured much of the ground on the north side.

The point at which the tunnel will be driven into the hill at the north side has already been selected.

The mouth of the tunnel will be almost literally upon the streets of the town, and in order that this great enterprise may be carried out successfully it will be necessary not only to provide means of carrying away the ore but the waste as well. This will be accomplished, it is understood, by having a Nevada Northern railroad side track built at the mouth of the tunnel.

The engineers representing the ottier coterie of capitalists have picked out several locations for the tunnel on the south side of the canyon but have not yet definitely decided which will be chosen as the spot at which the work will actually begin.

McDonald-Ely.

Copper ore was struck in the McDonald-Ely shaft at the depth of 75 feet. The shaft is now down 100 feet, and the value of the ore is improving as the miners progress with their work. It was this great strike that caused many of the big mining deals in properties adjoining the McDonald-Ely holdings during the past few days.

The showing at the McDonald-Ely has caused a great wave of mining activity to the north of Robinson canyon and has already caused a revolution in the prices of property in that direction, as it proves conclusively that the great Ely ore body extends uninterupted ly in that direction and in as vast a quantity as on the south side, where the development work of Ely's big company and work of Ely's big development companies has been done.

It was this turn in events that brought F. Augustus Heinze to Ely, and there is no longer any doubt that the Montana copper magnate has turned his faith in Ely and will make ore millions here.

G. L. Rickard, in guying the Christmas group of mines, which adjoin the McDonald-Ely holdings to the north, is following the example of Mr. Heinze.—White Pine News.

CONVICTS PLAN BREAK WITH NITRO-GLYCERINE

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 15.—A special to the Chronicle from Walla Walla states that according to members of the special prison commission officials of the state prison have unearthed a plot to blow up the guards' quarters with nitroglycerine stolen from the jute mill and effect the release of nearly 250 convicts as they were being marched from the prison to the mill. Three convicts are said to have been implicated. It is claimed that the can of explosive and pieces of iron bar to be used as weapons were found in the cells.

Warden Kincaid denies any knowledge of the plot but it is suggested the facts are being suppressed.

EARTHQUAKES DAMAGE BUILDINGS IN ARIZONA

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 15.—Between three and four o'clock this morning Santa Fe was shaken for several seconds by an earthquake which rocked houses, but did no particular damage.

Reports from over the territory show that the shock was general. A telephone message from Socorro says that the first shock there occurred at five o'clock and lasted five seconds.

Several buildings were wrecked and people severely frightened. Shocks are occurring there, it is reported, at intervals of from five to ten minutes and are very severe.

Shocks were also felt at Torrance and Estancia, in Torrence county, and at Albuquerque and Las Vegas.

DECLARES NEVADA GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM

Tom Smith Returns to His Native State From Central America, Where He Has Been Engaged in the Mining Industry

Tom Smith, brother of Cassius Smith, and better known to a host of friends as Long Tom, is in Reno again. He has been mining in Costa Rica and has a very responsible position with the Colburn Mining company. He left the torrid circle, however, to return to Reno in order to meet his son. Confidentially, he states that he thinks so much of his family that he don't care if he never goes back.

Smith is a graduate of the engineering department of the Nevada university and shortly after receiving his sheepskin went to Central America to take charge of the cyaniding department of a large mining company in that country. Soon after he was offered the superintendancy of the Colburn Mining company with which concern he has been identified ever since.

The operations of the company are among the largest in the world and Smith believes his company has the greatest gold mine in Central America, exceeding in value the Boston mine near by.

He will purchase new machinery for the mill in Central America before he returns and is undecided as yet whether to take his family with him or not. Smith is inclined to return to Nevada and cast his lot with his native state. He is greatly impressed with the growth of this state from a mineral standpoint since he left and believes that the future of the Sagebrush state is great enough to gather to itself the young men who as native sons have left for other climes. Meantime he doesn't like the idea of leaving that young son up here alone with his wife and he doesn't like the idea of taking the family to Costa Rica where doctors are few and—well, he admits he's homesick.

"So after my trip to Costa Rica with the machinery for the mill, and after it is properly installed, I guess I'll come home again," he says.

COMSTOCK ATTRACTING EASTERN ATTENTION

In this week's Comstock reports appears the simple announcement that the pumps of the Ward Shaft are working well. Some ten days ago a dispatch from Virginia City was printed giving in some detail the starting of these pumps on the 2,400-foot level.

Only those who have followed the immense work in progress on the Comstock Lode can appreciate the significance of the announcement that the pumps are able to take care of the water which flows into the levels of the mines.

It is an announcement fraught with rare promise to stockholders of the Comstock properties.

It is an achievement for which a few faithful men have been working for years—an enterprise in which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent. And now success is in sight.

Under what disheartening circumstances this work has been conducted—under what discouragements—under what opposition—can only in part be known.

But one man above all others has never lost heart, has stood always faithful to his trust. With what tact and diplomacy he has brought warring enterprises together—with what genius he has financed the vast undertaking, with what courage he has risen above all opposition.

And today he stands as the sponsor for deep mining on the Comstock Lode, as the man who has again brought these wonderful properties to a point where production—possibly large bonanzas are again at hand.

What the names of Mackey, Flood, Fair and O'Brien were to the last generation, the name of Charles Hirschfeld will be to this generation.

The work of such a man is an example to all mining managements to come.—Wall Street News.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN BULLFROG DISTRICT

News From Rhyolite of Most Encouraging Nature—Bullfrog-Victor Encounters Enormous Body of High Ore—Good Showing.

The big strike reported a few days ago on the property of the Bullfrog Victor is confirmed by latter accounts.

The company has opened an enormous body of high grade ore in the tunnel being driven. Six feet of the ore goes $180 to the ton and a streak eighteen inches wide will run way up into the hundreds.

In the language of one of the owners.

"This company has been plugging away for the past year and has at last reached its reward. The stock which was quoted on the Reno Stock and Bond Exchange a few days ago at 9 and 10 has advanced to 22 cents bid and no sales.

The Nugget company which owns both extensions will undoubtedly feel the effects of the neighbor's prosperity and advance.

Vice President and Manager Arkell of the Nugget Co., has left for Bullfrog to increase the working force on the properties of his company."

There are sensations every day in this district and more are coming. Daisy which hovered around $1 two weeks ago has shd up to the $4 mark; Diamondfield Triangle is also on the up grade and there is something doing in the Bullfrogs all the time with the end not yet in sight.

YOUNG WOMAN WINS MINES AND FRIENDS

FAIRVIEW, Nov. Nov. 15.—The recent visit of Miss Florence Roche to Fairview, recalls the manner in which she became the owner of some valuable mining property here, which she had never seen until this trip. Miss Roche lives at Grimes ranch, and it was there that she became acquainted with George Bertchy, who made frequent stops when going to and from Fairview in December and January, at the time he and Norton were the sole pilgrims to this present mecca of the gold hunters. As assistant hostess of the Grimes ranch, famous for its hospitality, and as well known as the overland stage road, this young lady so impressed Bertchy that he located for her the "Sunlight" claim, one of the best known in the district, and one that may prove to be worth thousands of dollars.

As a further testimony to her personality Harry Jamison named for Miss Roche the Florence claims, one of which was bought by the Nevada Hills, and the other being purchased by Dr. Caldwell, of Colorado Springs, who turned it over to the Nevada Hills Florence Mining Company which has recently come into the limelight by reason of an over subscription of its first allotment of treasury stock. After purchasing the Florence No 3, Dr. Caldwell located the "Blue Bell and "Little Fellow" fractions; in the month of April M. E. Pinney discovered an ore shoot on the Little Fellow fraction, while laboring under the impression that he owned the ground. After selling the "Tiger" claim to Caldwell for $10,000 cash, Pinney gave the purchasers the benefit of his discovery, and the "Blue Bell" and "Little Fellow" fractions became the property of the company that was organized and took the name of "Florence." Just recently the Fairview Mining and Leasing company acquired a lease on the ore shoot, and will begin work at once.

TRADE AND FINANCE IN THE WORLD'S MARKETS

Day's Market is Dominated by Fluctuations in St. Paul Stock—Standard Oil Fell Twenty Points On Curb Market From Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—There was an advance of 5/16ds in the London tin market, with spot quoted at 195 pounds and futures at 190 pounds, 15s. Locally the market was quiet with spot quoted at 42.00@42.50, the inside price being bid.

Copper was firm and higher in the local market with Lake quoted at 22@22.50; electrolytic at 22 and castings at 21.25@21.75.

The day's market was dominated by varying fluctuations in St. Paul, and these were so constant as to keep sentiment upon the general market a good deal unsettled. Sales to realize upon the wide advance of the last few days caused an appearance of weakness in St. Paul, to which the whole market responded, and again when St. Paul was supported and showed signs of heavy accumulation on a rapidly rising scale the whole market once more turned strong. This was largely due to the belief among professional operators that they could read the course of the standard Oil group of capitalists in the operations in St. Paul and to the eagerness to follow their leadership. The general public was not largely in evidence in the market, and seemed afraid about attempt to read the evidence of this supposed leadership in the speculation. There was no news to indicate the causes of the St. Paul movement, beyond the reiteration of previous rumors. The supposition that subscription rights to new stock were in view was fostered by the manner in which the rise in the preferred stock kept pace with the common stock, all on nominal dealings. On the other hand, the close sympathy in the movements of St. Paul and Southern Pacific was regarded as corroborative of surmises of a closer relation with the Harriman combination of railroad properties. The dealings in the general market were duller and the fluctuations narrower than yesterday, owing to the confusion caused by the varying movements in the market leaders.

There was some disposition to look for a motive in the occasional heaviness of the market to the inauguration of the government's prosecution against the Standard Oil company. The stock of the company on the curb market fell sharply some twenty points from the previous day's price, following similar declines for several days past, but the parcels of shares dealt in were of a size which is not accorded an official quotation in the case of any stock when dealt in on the curb. The easier tone of money was distinctly perceptible in the time money market, as well as the call money market, and it continued to rise today. It was urged in the stock market today that greater freedom may be looked for now that the period is set to the requirements for "window dressing" in expectation of these calls.

The closing tone became unsettled and irregular again when St. Paul lost all but half of its rise.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,736,000.

United States 2s declined ½ per cent on call.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A VISION OF PROPHECY

THE United States is the country of greatest opportunities in the world: the west is the section of greatest opportunities in the United States; Nevada is the state of greatest opportunities in the west; and Reno is the city of greatest opportunities in Nevada.

For more than thirty years Reno sat, unnoticed, by the pair of steel ribbons that linked her with the outer world, eclipsed by the superior glories of the Comstock, inferior in wealth and population to half a dozen other Nevada towns—a veritable Cinderella among the communities of Nevada, reduced to the position of being a rival to Carson.

Then suddenly she underwent a change. The chrysalis evolved into a butterfly. And today Reno stands on the threshold of that Canaan, in the march to which the late C. C. Powning was the Moses, and like Moses died before his footsteps reached the promised land.

It is not suprising that Reno has thus suddenly come into her birthright. Search the world over and you will find nowhere a community offering equal advantages to the intending settler. The climate, the site, the scenic surroundings, the educational and social advantages are unsurpassed in any other city of its size in the world.

But it is in its aspect as commercial center, a city of great financial opportunities, that Reno is preeminent. It would be a waste of time to dilate on the great changes that have come upon Nevada in the last few years—to mention again the tremendous mining discoveries and the operations begun in connection therewith, to speak of of the immense possibilities in agriculture made the advent of new railroads, bringing new development and the priceless boon of competition, or doubly great by the introduction of irrigation. It is enough to say that these things promise in time to make Nevada one of the greatest commonwealths in the west, and that everything that advances Nevada will advance Reno, its metropolis.

Not merely is Reno the metropolis—and as yet that word, as applied to a city of but twelve thousand inhabitants, has a not altogether serious sound, but it cannot be denied that this is the railroad center of the state, the one seat of water-power, the trading center and distribution depot of a large stock-raising and agricultural territory, the educational center of the state, and the gateway to the metropolis of the Coast. As such Reno must inevitably share in the greatness and prosperity of Nevada.

But how great our share may be depends upon ourselves. Already Salt Lake and Los Angeles are reaching out for the trade of our mining camps, and it will require energy, enterprise, and vigilance if we are to get all that is coming to us. And we must all stand together—every man put his shoulder to the wheel in the effort to forward the progress of Reno. Let all our efforts of muscle and brain be devoted to the upbuilding of the town. To use a homely but expressive phrase, "Boost; don't knock."

And the Reno of today will have become but a dream to the Reno of tomorrow. The visions of those who once imagined a greater Reno will have been fulfilled many years in advance of the appointed time. All it needs is work and concerted action. Let no man be a laggard in the ranks.

A Lesson From Goldfield

THE Goldfield News, in an editorial in a late issue, calls attention to several changes that are necessary in the conduct of the Stock Exchange there. After calling attention to the fact that, as at present conducted, the Goldfield Exchange is simply the echo of the San Francisco Board, the News goes on to say that the enormous business now being done there would justify cutting away from the San Francisco Exchange and take the lead in fixing prices. So great has been the volume of business during the past week that the Goldfield Exchange has been compelled to close down in order to catch up with its business and give the brokers an opportunity to clear their stocks, and check up their books. The News draws from this the conclusion that the Exchange is being conducted on antiquated and cumbersome principles and in pointing out needed improvements in methods says:

> But these matters are of little consequence compared with the more pressing needs of a clearing house and a registration office. No well conducted exchange attempts to do business without either. The clearing house reduces the office work of the broker. Instead of exchanging innumerable checks among themselves, as at present, the broker settles with the clearing house on his 'differences,' that is, gives one check for the difference between what he sells or buys, and the clearing house gives its check and delivers the stock. In stead of chasing all over town to as many brokers as there are items of trade, collecting or delivering certificates and checks, the whole transaction is made with the clearing house as one item.
> The confidence of the general public must be secured and retained, to secure a growing and prosperous stock business.

In view of the experience of Goldfield it might be well for the Reno Stock and Bond Exchange to get in line with some improvements that will place it where it should be, well in the lead among the big exchanges on the Coast. If all the business that is now done out of Reno were to be transacted on the floor of the local exchange, it is probable that but few, if any of the exchanges on the Coast could show an equal volume of trade. Goldfield will always be handicapped by insufficient telegraphic service, a condition that Reno can easily overcome, and while the business of the Reno Exchange may never reach the volume now enjoyed by Goldfield, which is on the ground, nothing should be overlooked that will tend to expedite, increase and encourage trading. We should take our cue from the experience of Goldfield.

THE latest news is that no niggers were lynched in Atlanta yesterday.

THE most hopeful sign in the recent election in Nevada was the unanimity with which its citizens regardless of party, declared their opinion that Francis G. Newlands shall succeed himself as United States Senator from this state.

"SILVER," declares George W. Roberts, director of the United States mint, "is going to reach a price of 76 cents or better within two years, and it is going to hold that price." In fact he thinks it may go as high as 80 cents. Give us Bryan for president, and a Democratic Congress and silver will touch $1.29 an ounce and hold it.

A MINNESOTA federal grand jury has brought 147 indictments against railroads of that state. There can't be much difference between those eastern roads and the Nevada article after all.

IDAHO went Republican and Reed Smoot will finish his term as Senator from Utah. But capitalist papers will declare that the result in Idaho was a rebuke to the Western Federation of Miners.

SENATOR PLATT did not take an active part in the recent New York campaign. A man with two wives, and both of them fighting him, may not safely be put down as a gentleman of leisure.

"Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eyes with ease and comfort; also will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or sewing, or if the letters look blurred and run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The lenses sold in the cheap groceries are of unequal density and have imperfectly formed surfaces. Continued use of these cheap lenses will result in positive injury from the eyestrain thus upon the occasion of accommodation to supply the defects in the eyes."
